INSTRUCTION MANUAL
P8320 SOL-MATE™ NIGHT VISION
DUMMY CAMERA

The Sol-Mate™ Night Vision Dummy Camera protects your property by incorporating modern design and technology into one easy to use, easy to install product. The P8320 uses the natural power of the sun with a solar panel that charges the included rechargeable battery, even in partial sunlight. The red LED light blinks continuously throughout the day and night, catching the eye of potential intruders. It will continue to blink for up to eight days on a fully charged battery. The Night Vision feature of the camera senses when the sun goes down and the simulated night vision LED lights around the lens will turn on automatically, further acting as a deterrent at night when homes and businesses are vulnerable. When dawn breaks, the camera will sense it and the lights will turn off.

The pan and tilt adjustment feature allows for optimal placement on your property. A ball and socket joint allows for full range of motion, making it easier than ever to incorporate security devices onto any structure you choose. Adjust your camera easily into prime positions to ward off potential threats.

Installation:

For ease of installation, detach the mounting plate by unscrewing the large knurled ring from the ball and socket joint of the camera. Then mount the plate to the wall (stainless steel screws and anchors included in package). Be cautious of excessively tightening the screws, as to not strip or damage the plastic. The same principle applies to the attaching of the antenna. Proceed to re-attach the camera to the mounting plate, with the knurled ring being careful to not over tighten. Aim the solar panel up, in a position that will easily catch the sun's rays. Remove the plastic tab to begin use.

Maintenance:

The included battery will provide hundreds of charging cycles. If performance suffers you can change the battery. Simply loosen the screws tucked within the grooves on the side of the product, and slide out the front portion of the camera. Battery type: 1x Ni-MH AA 500mAh.
